The Purpose of Training

By use of games, exercises and challenging activities such as simulations, role play, ropes course, the UCAN training will equip teenagers to identify, understand and then manage their history and engage life in a responsible way which will then enable them to face the challenges of life and to help others to do the same.

Our service is designed to integrate, enhance and expand the incredible work that your support center has already been providing to many children that have gone through traumatic and devastating experiences. In order to accomplish these goals, UCAN provides a three-day transformational event on or off site that runs from the morning till evening.

As poverty and suffering have continued for hundreds of years from generation to generation, UCAN offers a unique and multi-dimensional method of implementing transformational principles. Each principle has been refined to appeal and relate to the individual thus equipping the participants to interrupt the cyclical reproduction of the past.

In order to promote and expand the value of your training and make its results long-lasting, we offer an additional two days. Prior to the training, we offer a day for preparation to meet counselors and answer your questions. Following the event, another day is provided to talk with and train some of the on site counselors and adults about how to continue dialogue and growth with the participatory children.
